

WHAT PLANET R U FROM?

AN EXHIBITION OF WORK BY DANIEL STUELPNAGEL

Thursday, April 3, 2008 – Thursday, April 24, 2008

All Ages

Sitar Arts Center will host an exhibition of art works by Daniel Stuelpnagel from April 3 through April 24, 2008, with an opening reception on Tuesday, April 8, 2008 from 6:00 to 8:00 pm.

The exhibition, part of the Sitar Arts Center Gallery Series, is entitled “What Planet R U From?”, and features art works describing the artist’s creative journey with the analogy of interplanetary space travel.

“We are interested in encouraging students to develop and examine their own creative paths,” said the artist, “based on travel experiences both real and imaginary.”

Daniel Stuelpnagel is a multimedia artist based at LOAD OF FUN studios in Baltimore, Maryland, USA (www.loadoffun.net). He is a four-time participant in ArtOMatic (www.artomatic.org), and a winner of the Adams Morgan Festival jury award for Best Abstract Painting.

More information and pictures appear on the artist’s web site at www.409A.com.
