

Oliver Contreras, a contractor and photographer at AFP, Agence France Presse in Washington, D.C., recently served two years as an official White House photographer at the White House Photo Office, primarily covering the President of the United States.

Originally from Chile, Oliver worked as a contractor photo editor for The Washington Post and as a freelance photojournalist for The Washington Post, The New York Times, AFP, SIPA USA, Getty Images, and others.

Oliver holds a Master of Arts in New Media/Photojournalism from The George Washington University-Corcoran School of the Arts and Design in Washington, D.C.

Instagram: @olivercontreras

X: @oliverzero

Website: www.olivercontreras.com

