

A.C. Valdez is an award-winning audio producer and editor of nonfiction audio. He is the founder of Joyful Amazing Wonderful Industries, a production company and tabletop game creation studio.

Previously, he worked as senior supervising producer for 1A from NPR and WAMU. He also worked at The Atlantic, where he and his colleagues produced the flagship show Radio Atlantic, The Review, and How to Build a Happy Life as well as How to Start Over. He previously edited the Guns & America collaborative reporting project, a partnership of ten public media stations across the country, chronicling the role of guns in American life. He also helped to develop the Pulitzer-winning podcast No Compromise. At the Panoply podcast network, he produced About Race, was the founding producer of Vox.com's The Ezra Klein Show and The Weeds, and recruited the team behind Malcolm Gladwell's Revisionist History. He was also a longtime producer of Chris Guillebeau's Side Hustle School, one of Apple's top downloaded podcasts of 2017.

AUDIO SAMPLE: Listen to an episode of the podcast Good Sport!, produced by A.C. Valdez.

